Dear Prof. Ferrater,

Many thanks again for your review of the book by García Máynez.

In sending your review of García Máynez to press, I have taken the liberty of changing your phrase "is a question that the author does not bother to explain" (which seemed to me to verge a little bit on the sort of personalities that we want to avoid in reviews) to "is a matter that the author does not explain." I hope you will not object to my substituting the milder phrase.

Finally, I received your letter about the Dictionary. I will of course do what I can to help in regard to the logical articles--making any suggestions I can myself--as well as, of course, getting them reviewed for the Journal.

Very sincerely yours,

Alonzo Church
