Dear Jose'---

May I have your evaluation of this? Prof. Guerra has sent it in as a contribution to the Chronicle Section - a study of the present situation of philosophy in Peru. My spanish is barely good enough to get the general idea from his article - and it seems to me useful. But I thought you should examine it more carefully and see what you think. We can include the whole piece - our pages will permit it. But it might be worth asking whether it could be cut in places. This sort of article is just what I have been looking for - we have just 'proofed' one of them on French philosophy during the 'Revolution of May '68' which will appear in the 4th issue. But I would be most grateful if you could determine more critically than I what merit this one on Peru may have.

Many, many thanks, and thanks, by the way, for your item on your lecture in Madrid which will appear in the 4th issue as well. Anything further which you may wish to contribute will, of course, be welcome. I do hope you have recovered from the shock of what must have been a terrible accident this summer. I was awfully sorry to hear that you had had such an unfortunate time. My family and I were in Europe driving for two months and managed to have very good luck. Best wishes.

Cordially,

John Compton
