Dear Mr. Ferrater:

Please excuse the tardiness with your mail. We have been in Boston and New York for nearly two weeks and have just returned. I hope nothing has come amiss due to this delay.

We must inform you of our tentative plans. We shall be leaving for Ohio sometime around the 10th of August give or take a few days.

We intend to pay you the entire months rent for August unless you suggest that we pay half (40 dollars) and call the rest "quits" considering phone and mailing expenses all taken care of. We shall discover the phone bill as of our departure and pay you accordingly. I hope you will feel free to honestly decide which you would prefer: in other words, pay $80 for all of August and settle other expenses when you return, or, pay $40 for half August and call all else even. We shall replace the one neon lamp that was broken by us in any case.

No doubt these details seem very mundane from your vantage point and indeed just reciting them seems somewhat beside the point. That is, the point is, that we have felt so fortunate here that we must do whatever you feel is best.

I must get this off to you now without further delay: once again I apologize for the delay.

Very sincerely,
Jim Hughes
