

Wednesday morning, later

Mr. Ferrater Mora--

Thinking about the matter, ~~xxxxxxxxxxxx~~ I have come to believe that nothing after all could really be gained by your questioning Mr. Naha about whether or not he wrote to Tennessee for me and, if so, what he said about psychiatrists. As you say, his answer would not be really trustworthy, anyway; and if he actually has not written already, better that he not. When I go down there for the interview, I shall just bear in mind the advice you gave me this morning (about how to handle the question of psychiatrists if it should arise).

So don't ask Mr. Naha anything. Don't you think this would be best after all?

Julia

Did you copy down the name of the Chairman at the Buffalo place? I don't remember your doing it. It is Professor Nicholas Fotion.
