Dear Mr. Ferrater Mora,

I have received a formal letter of acceptance of my resignation from the Acting President at Victoria. This gives me an odd feeling.

I have also, however, been invited to take a small job which, consulting with Mr. Nahm about it and other possibilities, I applied for shortly I received notice of rejection from Canada. It is that of being at the desk in the Deanery evenings Monday through Friday. It should be a pleasant job; I used to be the receptionist on Sundays at the Deanery, and I remember the duties as light and mostly agreeable. In return for my work I shall receive board and room at the Deanery. This is not much, granted. But I shall have much time to myself, and I need that.

I look forward to seeing you again.

Sincerely,

Jui - Johnstone
