Dear Prof. Mora,

I note in the literary news that you have published a book on Ortega y Gasset, and this reminds me of how much we still think of your essay for us on Wittgenstein, and how nice it would be to have another contribution from you. What about a general portrait of Ortega for Der Monat? It need not be a technical presentation of his philosophical ideas, which I suppose was your central purpose with the little book in the Heller series; but the drama of his intellectual life is a most colorful and fascinating spectacle and I know you would catch it as you did in the splendid W. portrait. There would be a fee of about seventy-five dollars, and we could wait a few months for your ms. Would you let me know?

With cordial greetings,

MELVIN J. LASKY
