

BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY

BOWLING GREEN, OHIO
43402

DEPARTMENT OF PHILOSOPHY

November 16, 1966

Professor Jose Ferrater-Mora
Department of Philosophy
Bryn Mawr College
Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

Dear Professor Ferrater-Mora:

The Department of Philosophy here at Bowling Green has been authorized to fill a full professorship beginning next September. It has given a good deal of thought, engaged in an examination of current philosophical literature, and talked to individuals around the country -- in order to ascertain the names of likely candidates for its opening. Your name appears high on that list. Incidentally Francis Parker, at Purdue, first suggested you to us. We have wondered whether you would consider moving to Bowling Green and therefore invite a letter of inquiry.

The Department here offers the Masters degree and we look forward to initiating the Ph. D., with the help of course, of the forthcoming additions to our staff. Bowling Green is a town of 18,000 people about 25 miles south of Toledo. The University has about 12,000 students, about 1,000 of whom are graduate students. The University, moreover, stringently follows all the provisos and recommendations of the AAUP with respect to academic freedom, tenure, university government and the like.

I believe you will find that salary, teaching load, etc. are at least attractive enough to discuss. This of course assumes your interest in making a change. We look forward, therefore, to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Robert P. Goodwin
Chairman

RPG:meg

27-11-66