Dear Prof. Ferrater-Mora:

The Department of Modern Languages of Loyola University of Chicago has scheduled an International Symposium on the subject of "Church State Relations: Spain" for Saturday, April 11, 1981, from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm. We are currently in the process of inviting three scholars in the fields of history, literature, and philosophy. All presentations will be in English, since we hope to attract a diversified audience.

I am writing to inquire if you might be interested in speaking on the philosophical component of the topic. Prof. William Callahan, of the University of Toronto, has accepted our invitation to speak on the historical aspect, addressing himself to the late eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries.

There will be a reception for the guest speakers on the evening of April 10th, and a dinner following the Symposium on Saturday, April 11th. We would be honored with your distinguished presence and know it would enhance the value of the event. Naturally, all travel expenses will be paid by Loyola University, and there is an honorarium.

Sincerely,
