Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

Dear Ferrater Mora:

It was good to meet you and chat with you-- though ever so briefly--in the hallway of our meeting place in Mexico. I am very sorry that you were not personally in a position to take on the chore of preparing the paper I mentioned to you, namely, on the status of idealism in the Spanish philosophical tradition, past, present, and future. However, I am very grateful to you for your willingness to advise me about competent substitutes--after you have had a chance to think about the matter somewhat. I trust I will hear from you in the not-too-distant future in this connection--and I will appreciate word from you whenever your suggestion is forthcoming.

Sincerely yours,
