Re: PHILSOPSOPHY TODAY:
CONFLICTING TENDENCIES
IN CONTEMPORARY THOUGHT

Dear Professor Mora:

The original term of copyright in this book has expired and, in accordance with the provisions of our contract and with the provisions of the copyright law, Columbia University Press has renewed the copyright in your name.

The contract calls for the copyright, when renewed, to be transferred back to the Press, to facilitate handling of subsidiary rights, and we are therefore enclosing an assignment for your signature. Will you please sign the form in the appropriate place, date it, and return it to me in the enclosed stamped addressed envelope? We will then register the assignment with the Copyright Office.

We shall of course be in touch with you from time to time concerning any plans that affect the book, such as translations or reprints in another form or under the imprint of another publisher.

All best wishes,

Lydia McNeill
