Dear Professor Ferrater-Mora:

This is to confirm your correspondence with Professor Birute Ciplujauskaite about your visit to Madison next March. We understand that, in addition to your lecture in honor of Julius Weinberg on "The Languages of History" scheduled for March 26, you are also willing to participate in a symposium on Calderón tentatively scheduled for March 27-28, 1981, both under the sponsorship of our Institute for Research in the Humanities. We understand further that you are willing to deliver a fifty-minute lecture as a part of this symposium, tentatively titled "The World of Calderón." To cover the extra expenses you will incur during this visit, we propose to add a modest amount to your honorarium and an extra two-day per diem payment to cover your additional meals and lodging here in Madison. We hope this will be satisfactory.

We also plan to investigate the possibility of publishing the papers for this Calderón symposium in a special volume. Please let me know if you have any objections to including your Calderón lecture in such a volume.

We all look forward to your visit next spring.

Cordially,

Robert M. Kingdon,
Director
