

HARVARD UNIVERSITY

DEPARTMENT OF
COMPARATIVE LITERATURE

15 HOLYOKE HOUSE
CAMBRIDGE 38, MASSACHUSETTS

December 14, 1955

Professor José Ferrater Mora
30, rue du Plateau
Paris (XIXe) France

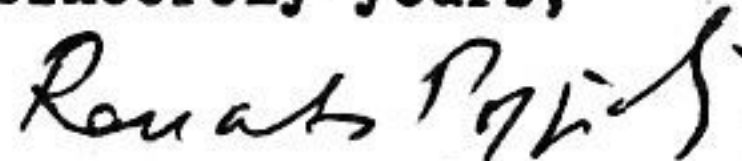

Dear Mora:

Thank you for your kind letter of December 1. I hope that your article will appear soon. The only difficulty is to find a good translator; unfortunately, Spanish is now not as well known in Italy as it should be. Later, Inventario will also publish a chapter from your book, and this may help us to submit to some Italian publisher your entire work. The best solution would be to choose section 3 of the last chapter (p. 289-314): and to add the lines you have promised to write, so as to make the selection more unified and meaningful. However, take plenty of time for this.

Thanks for the bibliographical note, which I have already forwarded to the Editor. I feel quite flattered by your kind words about the things of mine you have seen.

Looking forward to meeting you some time,

Sincerely yours,

Renato Poggioli

RP:ab

17-I-56