Dear Professor Ferrater Mora:

I apologize for the delay in replying to your good letter of February 18. As I am no longer a member of the Social Sciences program, I am not responsible for the Foundation's program in Legal and Political Philosophy. No final decision has been taken regarding the continuation of this program, but I feel confident that my colleague, Charles M. Hardin, would be pleased to correspond with you regarding your plans. Unfortunately, Dr. Hardin is currently traveling in Latin America and will not return until the beginning of April. It is entirely possible that you would prefer to pursue your discussions with Dr. John H. Harrison, of our Humanities program. With the exception of the Foundation's program in Legal and Political Philosophy, our Humanities colleagues are the appropriate group in the Foundation with whom to discuss projects in Philosophy.

I trust you will understand my reluctance to route your inquiry immediately either to Dr. Hardin or Dr. Harrison until I have heard from you regarding your wishes. Although my own responsibilities do not make it appropriate for me to discuss a project you may wish to put before one or the other program, I would be happy to visit with you when you are in New York and calling upon Dr. Hardin and Dr. Harrison.

Please let me hear from you at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Thompson
