Dear Professor Ferrater Mora:

I am extremely obliged to you for consenting to read my translation for me and to discuss it with me later. I have accordingly sent it to you, together with the Spanish text, by Railway Express this morning.

By the way, I heard from the Beacon Press that you are (or have been) reading over "Man at the Crossroads" again. Have you found anything to add or to change?

Apparently the earliest I can manage to arrive at Bryn Mawr, starting from here in the morning, ~~1:08~~ ^(on Wed. 20) is 1:08 p.m. I might arrange to spend the night in New York, in which case I could catch an earlier train to Philadelphia. With that in view, could you conveniently send me a Philadelphia-Bryn Mawr time-table? They seem to be unobtainable here. For the present, however, I will plan on 1:08. So that it will be, unless you hear from me to the contrary.

I look forward to the pleasure of meeting you.

Yours sincerely,

Willard R. Trask
