Dear Professor Ferrater:

Congratulations on having been chosen to present the Prince of Asturias Philosophy prize in Oviedo, in presence of His Majesty, the King. It is a fitting honor for a person of your stature.

It is unfortunate that the presentation in Oviedo comes just three days after our Ortega symposium. So that you can make the presentation for the symposium and still be in Spain before October 2, we have rescheduled your appearance. You will now open the initial session, at 9:00 a.m. on September 30. This will enable you to take the evening flight to Spain, and to be in Madrid on the morning of October 1. It accords with the verbal agreement reached between you, Jaime Benitez, and Javier Malagón during a telephone conversation some three weeks ago.

I deeply appreciate your changing your original travel plans to that you can participate in both events. Since we will be printing the final program for the Ortega symposium in the very near future, I would appreciate your confirming this new agreement in writing as soon as possible. Your participation is crucial to the success of the symposium.

Sincerely,

William E. Carter
