Dear Bill,

Thank you for your letter. I was wondering about not hearing from you, but I assumed you were either busy, or lecturing abroad (or both).

Just in case I might forget: my telephone number is (215) 527.3263.

I'm pleased to learn that you are going to Venice for a conference, and above all that you have decided to write a book on Rayce with John Smith. I am sure it will be an excellent contribution to the understanding of this too neglected American philosopher.

Yes, I finished my new book on Unamuno, but I don't know when it will come out. I am expecting copies of my "Fundamentos de filosofia" and also a book entitled "Modos de hacer filosofia." I also finished a couple of short stories, have been publishing articles in "El Pais" and I am writing a second novel (as well as preparing a new philosophical book). As you can see, I am really busy.

Priscilla has recovered from her operation, and is back to teaching.

Hope to hear from you. Sincerely

Kloback, W
