Dear José:

The pressure of incoming manuscripts makes it more and more difficult to arrange for the proper refereeing of papers. Above all, the subject matter distribution of submitted papers makes it necessary to maximize the number of consultants in certain areas. As a result, we are at present forced to "accept the resignation" of several of our editorial consultants, yourself among them, in order to make the necessary readjustments. I am, perhaps needless to say, thoroughly grateful for your past help. And I very much hope that your friendly good will towards the APQ will survive the termination of a formalized relationship. Also, I should like to take this opportunity to urge you to afford the APQ an opportunity to publish something of yours -- indeed, I should like to plead with you to do this.

With my regards and good wishes,

Cordially yours,

Nicholas Rescher
