

Dear Mr. Ferrater – Mora,

My apologies for the vagueness of The Chicago Bryn Mawr Club. I am especially sorry if there has been any problem about the title of your lecture. Your audience – 250 women- is interested in the role of the intellectual in society for they are caught in the vacuum of suburbia – and wish I know how and where to proceed.

However, any phase of this topic would be most apropos.

I have arranged for you to stay in Lake Forest Wednesday night and would be delighted to arrange for you to meet John Nef – professor of Philosophy at U. Of Chicago if you wish on Thursday the 11th. Do let me know about the latter.

It would be much better for you to take a cab or train to Kenilworth when you arrive. A Sherry Party will be given for you at 11:30 am before the lunchette-lecture so do plan to come at my home directly from the train – and I will take you to the sherry party. The Northwestern train takes 40 minutes from Chicago and stops one block from our house at the Kenilworth station. Please advise me when to expect you.

I'm sorry again to have caused you any confusion. I am looking forward to meeting you.

Sincerely,

[Signatura]
