

LEVERHULME RESEARCH AWARDS

ST. BRIDGET'S HOUSE
BRIDEWELL PLACE
LONDON, E.C.4

CONFIDENTIAL

10th February 1960

Dear Sir,

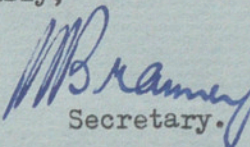

Mr. Raymond Carr, New College, Oxford.

Mr. Carr has applied to us for a research award to assist him in his work on a history of modern Spain, 1808-1939. As, no doubt, you know, this work is already well advanced but Mr. Carr feels that it will be necessary for him to spend a year in Spain completing the research.

The application commends itself to us and we would like to assist Mr. Carr's project, but before taking the matter further we should very much appreciate your confidential opinion of the project itself, its value and importance.

I am not sure that Mr. Carr has told you that he has given us your name, as he did this only on a request for the name of an authority in Spanish history who would support him. I shall, therefore, await your reply with interest.

Yours faithfully,

Secretary.
