Dear Professor Vicens Vives,

Thank you for your letter of 23rd May. It was indeed an agreeable coincidence that you should have been talking to Dr. Trueta, who is of course a close personal friend.

Unfortunately I do not think that any of my colleagues will be in Oxford in August. I myself shall be abroad, and will be very sorry to miss you. We shall, however, be very pleased to welcome you here next spring. The University term ends on 14th. It would therefore be possible to arrange for you to lecture any time between 1st March and that date. The next term does not begin until Monday 28th April. If this were a more convenient date for you we could arrange for you to lecture during the first week of that term. I look forward to discussing these possibilities with Dr. Trueta in the near future. It will be a great pleasure for us to welcome you in this University.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

F. S. C. K. I.
