Dear colleague,

Thank you so much for your letter of February 5th. I must apologise if my previous letter of June 3rd was not clear. I had, I now see wrongly, assumed that you would propose convenient dates for the spring, and we were waiting to hear from you. I realise now that that letter of mine was a little misleading and I do apologise.

I appreciate that you have made other arrangements and am only disappointed not to be able to welcome you here in April.

We shall of course be delighted to see you in October or November. The University term runs from 12 October to 6 December. Perhaps you may be in a position to fix the dates in the near future, for instance Tuesday 14 October and Thursday 16 October, or any of those days during the term which would suit your convenience.

I have given your best wishes to Professor Carr and he wishes to join with me in sending you his warm regards.

Yours sincerely,

F. Deakin
