

October 30, 10985

Ms. Dorothy Marshall
1265 Beacon Steet No. 901
Brookline, Massachussetts 02146

Dear Dorothy,

I have just returned from Spain --the Prince of Asturias Price in the Humanities plus lectures plus book promotion, a rather hectic three weeks--; hence my delay in answering your letter of October 1.

Thank you for your invitation to participate in the two day conference for October 16-18, 1986. I will be pleased to attend, especially if it is for some round table (a mode of communication in which I still believe) rather than for a paper (a genre which I find rather otiose). There is plenty of time to agree on the day and hour (or hours).

I will be again in Spain on December, and then also in January, and possibly February, but any mail sent to Villanova, Pa. will eventually find its way. Please note my phone number: (215) 527.3263.

From the 12-odd books I have published in the last five or six years I select my novel, Claudia, mi Claudia, and my recent short-stories collection, Voltaire en Nueva York to send by separate mail.

Best wishes,

Cordially,

J Ferrater Mora