

Dear R. + J.M^a.

Jaime has come + gone and although I'm sure he missed you, I think his vacation was fairly satisfactory. He had dinner with us a couple of times, met me for lunch in the Deanery and we went on a shopping tour in Erdmann where Jaime acquired a pair of shoes. Towards the end of the week the Marshalls went away for two days –leaving Jaime a can which I think he enjoyed. He seemed to me to be in a fine shape –working on possible transfers in no sense desperately and much more cheerful about his present college. He would no doubt express more violent feelings to you than to us – but I feel he is managing pretty well –better perhaps than he would admit to you. I talked with Jaime last night by phone and he said his return trip included a delay and some temporarily lost luggage which has now appeared. In short – you have good grounds for feeling that things are acceptable at the moment.

Nat, at zero hour, decided to give R.C.A. another whirl –and thinks it will take here until Oct. to find out what the future holds.

Anyway –I resigned the job I had accepted- and we will be in B.M. for next year. Spring is coming –the pace of activity picks up- and I long for Commencement Day.

Best to you both
