DEPARTMENT OF PHILOSOPHY

April 23, 1960

Dear Mr. Ferrater Mora,

I must tell you that I've realized today that I must stop working right now for a while. I've got to stop for a few days or a couple of weeks if I am to complete my work at Bryn Mawr. What I told you on the telephone is true: I have been working steadily and hard. But I have been in a bad state of mind--partly because of the slow progress of my work, partly because of some other things--since March first or so. And I can't keep this up.

Now don't fear: this is no announcement that I've decided to hell with my thesis. And I'll do my best to make a decent impression on anyone who might decide to interview me for a job. However, do bear in mind that I can type and that I know what books in a library are. If nothing in philosophy comes up, I can get myself a job somewhere or other typing or sorting books. For a year, I mean.

Sincerely,

Juli-
