Here it is at last:

sorry it took so long--I had no idea how much surgery slows one down. Not that I couldn't type or read--just everything took three times as long. I hope the delay will not inconvenience you too much.

About my remarks: I found it difficult to criticize you because a) I am in agreement with what you are saying and b) delighted that someone is finally saying it. ~~Instead~~ What I have tried to do was to put the paper into context of traditional phenomenology, where I feel more at home, and to open up its implications for discussion. I hope it will be useful.

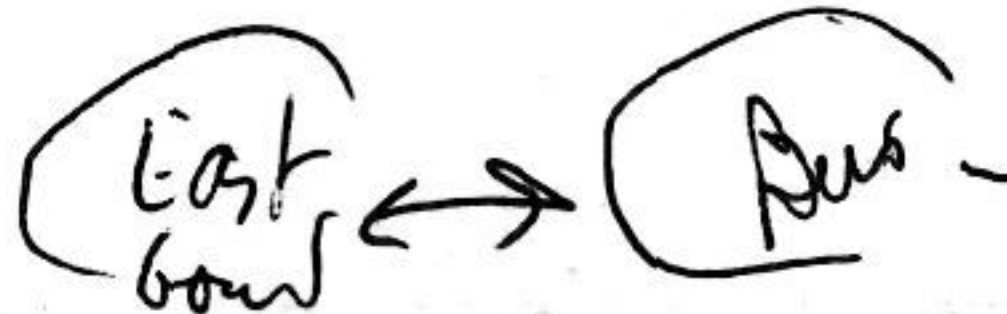

I look forward very much to meeting you at the conference

Sincerely,

Erasmus V. Kuhl
