Dear José,

Before too much time passes I must tell you of my indebtedness to you for all the help you have been. I recognize, of course, that what you have done has followed from your conviction that it was the right thing to do -on the basis of academic considerations, and so on. But the extent of your care and energies has gone beyond that conviction. And I only want to tell you that I recognize that I wish, in writing, to thank you for it.

As ever,
