Professor José Ferrater Mora
Department of Philosophy
Bryn Mawr College
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

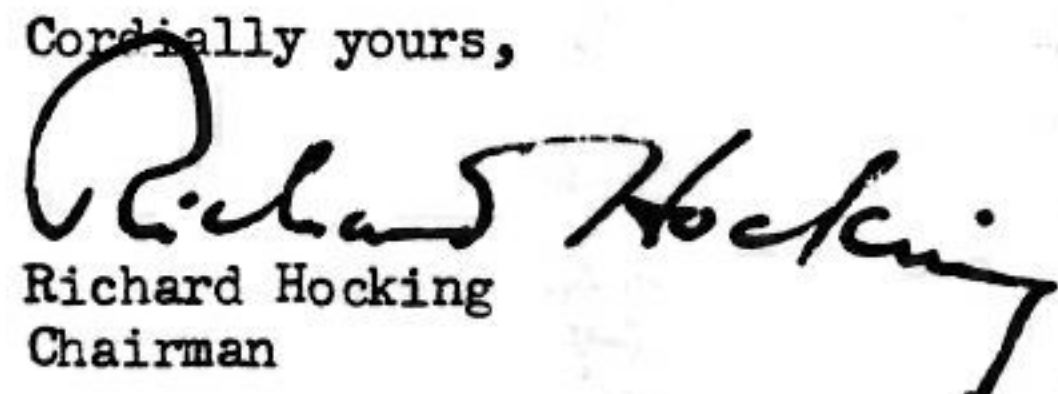

Dear Professor Ferrater Mora:

It is a joy to us to know that you are lecturing at Emory week after next. I am sure that a number of our graduate students of philosophy will attend the lecture on Unamuno in particular.

I am writing ahead to express the hope that you will be able to come to tea at my house on Wednesday afternoon between 4 and 6. On Wednesday afternoons the philosophy graduate students and others gather for informal conversation. It would delight us all if you could be one of the company.

If you think you would have time during your four days at Emory for a second informal visit with the faculty members of the Philosophy Department, please feel free simply to say so, and I will explore times and places.

Cordially yours,

Richard Hocking
Chairman
