Dear Mr. Ferrater Mora,

I have finally succumbed and am going the way of all Bryn Mawr graduates. I am applying to the University of Chicago in the department of Art History and would appreciate it very much if you would complete the enclosed form.

My decision to do graduate work in art history was prompted primarily by my Junior Year Abroad. While I had always been interested in art, I had not intended to pursue it as an academic discipline until I was surrounded by the museums of Europe. I am sure that my training in philosophy will provide an excellent background and a possible approach to methodological problems of art history.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Karin Carlson
