Dear Professor Rice:

It is with great pleasure that I formally accept your offer, as per your letter of November 18, 1986, to become King Juan Carlos I Professor of Spanish Civilization and Culture in the spring term of 1987. I fully agree with the conditions stated in your letter.

It is, of course, not only a pleasure but also an honor to be associated with this Chair and with the Department of Philosophy in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at New York University.

Thank you very much for the help suggested in trying to find appropriate accomodation in New York for Monday nights, as well for any other time needed on occasion of special events. I am sending you herewith, as requested, the receipts of my train expenses; only my personal fare is included.

Both my wife and I enjoyed very much having lunch with you and with Professors Ruddick and Sanchez-Albornoz. I am looking forward to seeing you again on the second semester.

I sent to Professor Ruddick a description of my seminar on Spanish Contemporary Thought, including a short bibliography of texts in English --the language in which the seminar will be taught. I will be happy to provide any other necessary information as soon as requested both for the seminar and for any other events which may be arranged.

Thank you again for your letter and for the opportunity to become a Visiting Professor at New York University, as holder of the King Juan Carlos I chair, during the second semester of the academic year 1986-1987.

Best wishes,

Sincerely,
