Dear Sir,

Please excuse my disturbing you.

First let me introduce myself: my name is Péter Nagy, I work in the Hungarian National Library, Budapest.

I am very much interested in philosophy and I have already heard a great deal about your book entitled "Philosophy today." Unfortunately this book is not in the stock of Hungarian bookshops, so I am unable to obtain it though I need it in my work - that is why I am writing to you.

If there is but one possibility, please send me a copy of your book. In exchange for it - in advance, if you wish - I will send you any book or books, published or available in Hungary, on any subject, in any language.

Thanking you very much for this favour in advance,

I remain yours respectfully,

Péter Nagy
