Dear José:

Please forgive me for taking so long in acknowledging your letter of March 21 and repeating my thanks to you and Priscilla for your marvellous visit to our Department and UT- Austin.

I cannot tell you how grateful I really am for your contribution to our program by way of your lectures and discussions with faculty and students on the topics of Ortega y Gasset, A.J. Turing (have you seen the current issue of Scientific American?), your fictions and films. It was all so interesting and delightful.

Regarding the main purpose of your letter, namely, your interest in an eventual appraisal of your library and archive, which might serve as a basis for a future bequest, I will certainly be happy to pass the information along to Decherd Turner for his consideration, and I thank you for myself and all my colleagues for your generous thoughts.

I look forward to such a time when I will have the pleasure of seeing you both again. In the meantime, please let me know if I can do anything for you in Austin.

With all good wishes.

Yours cordially,
