Dear Mr. Ferrater-Mora,

As you can see from the letter-head, I am established at the Institute under the fellowship which you were kind enough to recommend me for. Now that initial problems of living-arrangements and the like have been conquered, it promises to be a most fruitful year. My book is well-advanced and should be finished before too many months. My colleagues are easy to live with and I have made good friends in Julius Weinberg and Bill Hay of the philosophy department. In addition to my regular research, I am auditing a course in metamathematics given by Kleene. All in all, it is a fine arrangement, and I am grateful indeed to you for helping to make it possible.

In the past few days I have received a letter from E.M. Adams of the philosophy dept. at North Carolina. They wish to consider me for a post there and have asked me, among other things, to give some references. I shall soon have to decide how seriously I am interested (there is also an offer from Texas on the horizon; they had previously asked me to come down for this year). If the need arises, may I hope that you would not be annoyed if I mentioned your name to Adams?

I trust that your work is going well and look forward to seeing you again in the near future. Perhaps you will be attending the convention next week at Northwestern on existentialism and phenomenology; at any rate, I'll look for you there.

With best wishes,

Stanley Rosen
