Chairman, Department of Philosophy

Dear Professor Ferrater Mora:

Although, as you may note from the enclosed tentative table of contents for our projected Sartre-volume, I have quite a battery, not only of contributors but also of treated subjects, I still would be happy to have an essay from your distinguished pen for this volume if we can find a subject not already preempted.

In this connection, I wonder how you would react to the following as a possible title for your paper:

"On Sartre's Dualism Between Being and Consciousness"

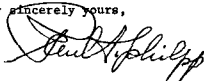

(c. f. page 75 of your Being and Death). Or would you like to suggest some other topic?

If you were to contribute to this volume your essay might range from 25 to 40 (double-spaced, typed) pages and--because of the precarious nature of Sartre's health--should be in my hands by October 1. Also, we shall, of course, need two copies of your essay (one for editorial purposes and finally for the printer, and the other to be sent to Sartre to aid him in formulating his "Reply").

I look forward with interest to an early and, I trust, favorable reply.

Very sincerely yours,

Paul A. Schilpp:kjo
enclosure

P. S. Of course, if one or the other of the Sartre contributors who have been asked to write for the volume on the subjects at the bottom of the enclosed page should turn us down, that subject would also become available.

P. A. S.
