Dear Prof. Ferrater;

Please excuse my not having got in touch with you sooner. I have been very busy preparing for my General exams which I took last week. That is why I have not done very much on the translation of your book. Mrs. King tells me you are off to Europe soon again but I hope to see you before you go and receive from your hands the complete and clearest m.s. of the book. So many of the chapters which I have now are so much written over that there is no room for more corrections.

I promise to have the m.s. in publishable shape by the time that you return if you can give me a complete, clean m.s. to work on.

P.S. Please remind Miguel that he has promised me a copy of the first edition of Oenos before he goes away for the summer.
