Dear Professor Ferrater Mora:

I have to acknowledge:

First, the check, which was duly received. I am obliged to you and to the President's office for being so prompt in the matter.

Second, your two recent letters, with your comments on the translation. I am very much gratified that you find the translation adequate on the whole. As to your suggestions, most of them are so well taken that I have hastened to adopt them. In order that you may see just what I have done, I send you (under separate cover) your lists of ~~the~~ comments, with annotations by me, ^{*} and the corresponding pages on which I have made changes. This will show you just what I have done, and perhaps you will wish to copy the changes onto your manuscript. Will you then please return the pages to me, so that I can then send a list of the changes to Mr. Bledsoe?

As to the date of the lecture, ^b it would seem by all means best to choose the day when the audience is most likely to be favorably disposed. So let it be Wednesday, March 20th. I look forward to meeting you on that occasion.

With best regards,

Yours sincerely,
Willard R. Trask
