

June 10, 1966

Dear Mrs. Fenster Mora:

I am writing to you in regards to my forthcoming visit to Bryn Mawr College. Miss Julia Johnston, my philosophy teacher at San Francisco State College, told me that you agreed to speak with me at your home on Tuesday, July 14. I am now visiting my parents in Akron, Ohio and plan to leave this morning on a short vacation which includes a two day glance at New York City. I will arrive in Bryn Mawr on Monday, July 13. Miss Johnston mentioned that you are soon leaving for Europe, so I assume that you are quite busy preparing for your trip. Since I will be in Bryn Mawr on Monday, I will phone you to insure that my visit suits your schedule.

I am looking forward to meeting you.

Sincerely yours,

Wilbur Troutman