Dear Mr. Ferrater Mora:

Julián Marías has sent us a copy of the fourth edition of his small book El método histórico de las generaciones, which he would like us to publish in an English translation in this country. Translations are complicated and expensive, and we are loath to commission them unless we know that the work in question is of great importance and that there is a genuine need for an edition of it in English.

Do you know this book? If you do, I should be most grateful if you would let me know how important you think its scholarly contribution is and whether you think an English translation is really needed.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,
