Dear Kathleen,

Sorry for the delay in answering your letter. I have been absent for a few days. I hurry up to answer before I go to the hospital for a biannual check-up. Nothing serious at all.

No wonder your chairman (who is he, by the way?) belittled my reputation. It is in his interest to do so. In order to counter his (unfounded) claims I am sending Mrs. Reeves a copy of the volume Transparencies published by Humanities Press (1981) in my honor. The book includes a list of my publications (pages 202-232) and mentions some honors (pages 4v-vi). To all of them I have added (in a letter to Mrs. Reeves) two supplementary lists since 1981: three more Honorary Doctor's Degrees, two condecorations, and an important prize. I hope all this will do.

I very much hope you will win your suit. You certainly deserve it.

Best wishes,

Cordially
