Dear Professor Ferrater-Mora:

Thank you very much for your letter of April 25. I believe as things stand now that all articles, book reviews and chronicles written in Spanish should come directly to you before being channelled either to Professor Natanson, Professor Compton, or me. In this matter only you are qualified to pass an overall judgment upon their value.

If later it would seem to be more convenient to follow a different plan, the various people involved could discuss what should be done. I must apologize for the fact that there is some ambiguity at this phase of our planning, but we are trying to come up with the most smoothly functioning format. Please let us have your thinking on the subject, too.

Until later. Continued success in your work.

Cordially Yours,

Joseph J. Kockelmans
